DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the word, "invention" is used in line 2 of the abstract. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

2. The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout and content for patent applications. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

The following order or arrangement is preferred in framing the specification and, except for the reference to "Microfiche Appendix" and the drawings, each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as section headings. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) Title of the Invention.
- (b) Cross-References to Related Applications.
- (c) Statement Regarding Federally Sponsored Research or Development.
- (d) Reference to a "Microfiche Appendix" (see 37 CFR 1.96).
- (e) Background of the Invention.
 - 1. Field of the Invention.
 - 2. Description of the Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (f) Brief Summary of the Invention.
- (g) Brief Description of the Several Views of the Drawing(s).
- (h) Detailed Description of the Invention.
- (i) Claim or Claims (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (j) Abstract of the Disclosure (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) Drawings.
- (l) Sequence Listing (see 37 CFR 1.821-1.825).

3.

Content of Specification

- (a) Title of the Invention: See 37 CFR 1.72(a). The title of the invention should be placed at the top of the first page of the specification. It should be brief but technically accurate and descriptive, preferably from two to seven words.
- (b) Cross-References to Related Applications: See 37 CFR 1.78 and MPEP § 201.11.
- (c) Statement Regarding Federally Sponsored Research and Development: See MPEP § 310.
- (d) Reference to a "Microfiche Appendix": See 37CFR 1.96(c) and MPEP § 608.05. The total number of microfiche and the total number frames should be specified.
- (e) Background of the Invention: The specification should set forth the Background of the Invention in two parts:
 - (1) Field of the Invention: A statement of the field of art to which the invention pertains. This statement may include a paraphrasing of the applicable U.S. patent classification definitions of the subject matter of the claimed invention. This item may also be titled "Technical Field."
 - (2) Description of the Related Art: A description of the related art known to the applicant and including, if applicable, references to specific related art and problems involved in the prior art which are solved by the applicant's invention. This item may also be titled "Background Art."
- (f) Brief Summary of the Invention: A brief summary or general statement of the invention as set forth in 37 CFR 1.73. The summary is separate and distinct from the abstract and is directed toward the invention rather than the disclosure as a whole. The summary may point out the advantages of the invention or how it solves problems previously existent in the prior art (and preferably indicated in the Background of the Invention). In chemical cases it should point out in general terms the utility of the invention. If possible, the nature and gist of the invention or the inventive concept should be set forth. Objects of the invention should be treated briefly and only to the extent that they contribute to an understanding of the invention.
- (g) Brief Description of the Several Views of the Drawing(s): A reference to and brief description of the drawing(s) as set forth in 37 CFR 1.74.

Art Unit: 2644

- (h) Detailed Description of the Invention: A description of the preferred embodiment(s) of the invention as required in 37 CFR 1.71. The description should be as short and specific as is necessary to describe the invention adequately and accurately. This item may also be titled "Best Mode for Carrying Out the Invention." Where elements or groups of elements, compounds, and processes, which are conventional and generally widely known in the field of the invention described and their exact nature or type is not necessary for an understanding and use of the invention by a person skilled in the art, they should not be described in detail. However, where particularly complicated subject matter is involved or where the elements, compounds, or processes may not be commonly or widely known in the field, the specification should refer to another patent or readily available publication which adequately describes the subject matter.
- (i) Claim or Claims: See 37 CFR 1.75 and MPEP § 608.01(m). The claim or claims must commence on separate sheet. (37 CFR 1.52(b)). Where a claim sets forth a plurality of elements or steps, each element or step of the claim should be separated by a line indentation. There may be plural indentations to further segregate subcombinations or related steps.
- (j) Abstract of the Disclosure: A brief narrative of the disclosure as a whole in a single paragraph of 250 words or less on a separate sheet following the claims.
- (k) Drawings: See 37 CFR 1.81, 1.83-1.85, and MPEP § 608.02.
- (l) Sequence Listing: See 37 CFR 1.821-1.825.

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the abstract and the claim(s), each should be placed on separate pages; figures 3-5 are not disclosed in the specification, and improper punctuation and spacing in the specification.

Appropriate correction is required.

Art Unit: 2644

5. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: improper claim format including punctuation, and capitalization. See 608.01(m) MPEP and 37 CFR 1.75. Wherein according the section 608.01(m), a claim begins with a capital letter and ends with a period, and thus on page 5, the statement: ...The main characteristics... can be eliminated... is not understood.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

8. Claim 1 recites the limitation "Said Anti-Noise Circuit System" (page 4, line 6); "said Radio Circuit System" (page 5, line 4) and "said Sound-Collect Circuit System" (page 5, line 8). There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Evans et al. (U. S. Patent No. 5604813) in view of Lewis (U. S. Patent No. 6035047).

Regarding claim 1, Evans et al. (hereinafter, referred as "Evans") discloses an industrial headset for active noise cancellation (col. 3, lines 25-67 – col. 4, lines 1-28). Evans' disclosure comprises a noise cancellation circuitry on a main printed circuit board-PCB (40), wherein a phase detection circuit inherently taught; a microphone (4), and speakers, which is indicative of the claimed anti-noise circuit system; further, Evans disclose means of indicative of a sound-collect circuit in col. 5, lines 11-35, wherein providing input for a external audio input device with a communication system. However, Evans fails to specifically disclose a radio circuit system as a part of the industrial headset. The examiner maintains that a headset comprising such a radio circuit was well known in the art.

Regarding the radio circuit for a headset and/or headphones, in a similar environment Lewis discloses a wireless headset with an electronic radio receiver (figure 5 and col. 4, lines 39-48 and 5, lines 31-35), wherein such receiver circuitry is well and thus inherent.

Further the use of PCBs having IC (integrated circuits) is well known in the art.

It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of Evans by providing a radio circuit (radio receiver) to be use in combination with the external audio device for purpose enabling an user to have multiple options of listening to a desired type of audio source while in a noise environment, and/or thus enhancing the function of a headset device for optimal performance for more enjoy audio listening.

Citation of Prior Art

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Garvis, U. S. Patent No. 5647011, discloses a headphone sound system.
